led by Ardetti Malino, a girl who is familiar with bears and knows how to tame and manage them.

"Get him angered," said Duncan, who directed his own picture. "Show action, so that I will be forced to exert effort to overpower him."

The girl obeyed, and the bear lunged forward, roared on his hind feet, danced and growled. All the while Miss Malino was seated on its back, a look of fright on her face. Duncan, who is in back of a group of some fifty players, forces his way into the center of the action and tackles the bear. The girl moved to safety, and Duncan had one of the fiercest fights of his stage career in taming the bear, and before he had the animal subdued Duncan sustained several scratches and received a couple of hugs with the grizzly animal.

CRUOSE ON SCREEN

Famous Boyhood Idol Enacts Adventures in Sarsen Serial

Remember the little red schoolhouse where you rebelled at learning multiplication tables and dates considered essential to the lives of all young Americans?

Remember how you used to sneak the adventuresome tale of "Robinson Crusoe" between the covers of your geography?

"Remember these little incidents are only fond memories now, for if you are grown up your mind is filled with responsibilities and thoughts of the future and it is seldom that you ever have time to recall those happiest days of your life."

"Robinson Crusoe" which comes to the Empress Theatre Friday and Saturday next will revive these memories among the grownups of the audience and will intensify the love for clean, wholesome drama among the children.

To children the experiences and escapades of Defoe's hero assume much more importance than the historical events of history.

Harry Meyers, capable both as an actor and an athlete, stars in the chapter play and makes an ideal Crusoe. He is ably supported by Gertrude Olmstead, Percy Pembroke, Noble Johnson, Aaron Edwards, Josef Swickard, Gertrude Claire, Emmett King, and others of note.

TRAINED BEAR IS HARD TO MANAGE WHEN ANGERED

William Duncan Faces Enraged Grizzly in Stirring Scene of "Steelheart."

William Duncan is a stickler for realism. If he stages a fight it must be a real fight. If he dives from a cliff no dummy must be used. If he fires a shot at a mark he must hit it or he will not make the scene. In "Steelheart," which will be shown at the Empress Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next week Duncan is required by the script to fight a grizzly bear. The animal, a tame one, has been excited by the queen of a mining settlement until it becomes ferocious. The role of the mining queen is hand-novel, Emma Bell Clifton, in writing the continuity, has succeeded in injecting into each of the eighteen chapters remarkable suspense and entertainment, never overlooking an opportunity to work additional educational value into the film.

TANGIERS LOCALE OF COMING FEATURE

Sets for "Cheated Hearts," the Universal Special Attraction starring Herbert Rawlinson, which comes to the Empress Theatre next Friday and Saturday includes scenes in America, Paris, Morocco and the wild regions adjacent to the civilized portion of the latter country.

Both Mr. Rawlinson and his director, Hobart Henley, have travelled over a good portion of the earth's surface, and their libraries included Tangiers, so, with the help of the scenic experts at Universal City, an unusually accurate series of settings was secured.

In "Cheated Hearts," a cast of players whose names are very familiar to the public will be seen. Included are Marjorie Daw, popular young leading woman; Doris Pawn, Warner Baxter, Winter Hall, Josef Swickard, the French father in the "Four Horsemen"—Anna Lehr, Hector Sarno, Al and Mursch, McQuarrie and Boris Karloff. The star is known as an actor of years of experience on both stage and screen.

Mr. Henley's direction was based on Wallace Clifton's adaptation of the Payson Book.

"CHEATED HEARTS" HAS STRONG CAST

The strength of the cast in "Cheated Hearts," the Universal feature which brings Herbert Rawlinson in a stellar role to the screen of the Empress Theatre on Friday and Saturday, is attested by the fact that G. Thalberg, general manager at Universal City and Hobart Henley, the director of "Barry Gordon," that every figure in the story should stand out as a masterpiece of acting, and so only players of prominence and known ability were chosen to support Rawlinson.

STRONG CAST IN "CRUOSE"

Harry Myers, Gertrude Olmstead, Emmett King, Percy Pembroke, Aaron Edwards, Josef Swickard, Gertrude Claire, Jack Woods, T. C. Jacks, John Wallace, Chas. McHugh, Gloria Davenport, and Noble Johnson. These are the principal players that lead the cast for the Universal chapter play, "The Adventures of Robinson Crusoe," which comes to the Empress Theatre on Friday and Saturday next week. Harry Myers is famous as "The Connecticut Yankee." Miss Olmstead won an Elk's beauty contest in Chicago. Emmett King is noted particularly for classical roles. Percy Pembroke has been featured in Western dramas. Josef Swickard was the French father in "The Four Horsemen."

CORRESPONDENCE

Seemly discussion of matters of public interest is invited under the above heading. As an earnest of good faith and to insure publication, all communications to the editor must be signed by the contributor (nom de plume signature for publication is not required). The editor of The Times is not responsible for opinions expressed or statements made under address; neither does he necessarily endorse or condemn such opinions or statements.

To The Editor, Macleod Times.

Dear Sir—

The Annual Meeting of the Macleod Agricultural Society will soon be held, and the question arises does the community with a Fair in 1923? If one is wanted does anyone care how it is run or who runs it? If one were to form any conclusion from the attendance at general meetings of late years it might well be, if there has to be a "Let George run it." Letting him do it has a great many good points to commend itself, but there comes a time when even he sometimes wonders what good reason he does it. And supposing it is proposed to hold a Fair next year, can we reasonably expect to make it appeal to the public from an agricultural standpoint and also as an entertainment, if men who stay away from the general meeting because they do not wish to take an active part in the coming year, are elected to office.

If therefore the Macleod Fair is an annual event that the people of this district wish carried on, let us have a good attendance at the general meeting. Then those who have ideas and suggestions, but who are not able to spare the time for active participation, can express themselves and help guide the actions of those who will be officiating.

Yours truly,

John F. Canning

A LEAF

It floats upon the stream, down wind—
In what way
Where Autumn's silence calls it to its fate;
Clothed in crimson splendor, far to stray,
Fallen from its lofty, swaying state,
Upon the tree, when all the world was gay,
It lived in darkness deep and sunny hours,
Dancing its youthful measure all through May—
Above the walking plain—the breath of flowers.
It blushed a rosy red at Autumn's touch,
And trembled at the winds ardent caress.
To live forever on the tree! O, such is not to destiny! In quietness Down winding way, it floats upon the stream—
Close wrapped within the mystery of Death,
O, tell me, do you yearn to live and dream
Again of joys—priceless as living breath?
—Charlotte Carson-Talbot.

Dietetic experts tell us not to eat between meals; not to eat after violent exercise; not to eat when excited; not to eat within three hours of a meal; not to eat when ill, and especially not to over-eat. The logical conclusion, therefore is, "When do we eat?"
—Kansas City Journal.

"What may I have the pleasure of showing you, madam?"

Musical Recital Great Success

The Pianoforte Recital and Concert held at the Town Hall on Tuesday evening last under the auspices of the Men's Catholic Club proved a great success in every way. The music-lovers of Macleod had an opportunity of hearing a real artist at the piano render some of the finest and classical pianoforte pieces ever composed, and the Rev. Father Bolts will long remain in the memory of his hearers as one of the finest pianists that have yet come to Macleod.

The Rev. Father Rozeau's violin solos were exceptionally well rendered and enjoyed, as also was his singing. Miss Vera Besant in her rendering of several solos was perfect, whilst Mr. Underwood was again the laughter-maker of the evening by his humorous and rollicking monologues and recitations.

Mrs. Huntley was the accompanist during the concert which arduous task she carried out in her usual inimitable manner.

Mr. Frank Walsh ably filled the position of chairman.

The Catholic Men's Club are to be congratulated on the success of the recital and we feel sure the people of Macleod will look forward to many more such entertainments. The dance held after the recital under the direction of Mr. J. Ryan was well attended and it was apparent that the young people particularly enjoyed this end of the program.

A little London girl was lost. And after wandering about for an hour she applied for help to a policeman, who took her to the station.

But at the police station they could not find out her surname, or get any clue as to her family, though they knew the neighborhood well.

"What name does your mother call your father?" the inspector asked.

"She don't call 'im no name," said the girl. "She likes 'im."

LOCAL & PERSONAL

J. W. McDonald was a business visitor to Calgary this week.

Joseph D. Matheson has been appointed Crown Prosecutor for the Judicial District of Macleod.

Rev. G. D. Armstrong was in Olds last Sunday preaching the Anniversary sermons at the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Beecher returned to Macleod the beginning of the week, after spending a week at Blairmore visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wilson.

Each citizen can make the news columns of this paper more interesting by sending in news items regarding trips, social events, successes of former residents in other places, marriages of local people of their relatives, bereavements of local families or deaths in other places of former residents.

William Marlowe, of the Rathwell district, whilst engaged in hauling wheat recently, had the misfortune to be thrown from his load, meeting with a very serious injury to one of his feet. He was removed to the Lethbridge hospital for medical treatment, where he now is. Late reports state that he is improving nicely and will be out and around again in a very short time.

Congratulations are due to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Young, of Macleod, on the anniversary of their wedding day, November 30th. Mr. and Mrs. Young were wedded on November 30th, 1898, at the Methodist Church, Macleod. Both Mr. and Mrs. Young during their long residence in Macleod have made a host of friends who wish them the very best of luck and happy returns of many, many more wedding anniversaries. On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Young entertained a number of friends to an informal dance and supper at their residence on 22nd st., on the occasion of their 24th wedding anniversary.

The monthly meeting of the Macleod Women's Institute was held in the Parish Hall, on Tuesday, November 21. After the business had been concluded Mrs. Swinerton took charge of the program, the subject being "Home Amusements." Papers describing games and refreshments which would furnish an evening's entertainment were read by Mrs. Swinerton and other members. Mrs. Ryan had charge of the music which was given by little June Ryan and Wilma Swinerton, accompanied by Mrs. Cutler, which was very much appreciated. Christmas cake recipes will be given by two of our members who are leaving Macleod to make their home elsewhere, at our next meeting. All members are urged to be present at this annual meeting on Monday, December 4th, at 4 p. m.

DEFECTS POINTED OUT IN NATIONAL HEROES

In families that possess skeletons it is customary and desirable, we believe, that the children when they come to a certain age should be informed of their existence, so that they can join the rest of the domestic group in perpetuating a delusion or refusing a calamity. It is the same with nations. The United States is, relatively speaking, a young nation, but has now reached the age, in the opinion of some of its historians, at which it can safely be told certain truths about its founders. It is no longer necessary that George Washington should be represented as a sort of American Francis of Assisi. He can be viewed not as a demigod, but as a very human sort of chap who on one occasion, according to a contemporary historian, "swore like an angel from heaven," who had a fondness for race horses and game cocks and sound wine, and an appreciative eye for a pretty girl no matter whether she happened to be black, brown or white.

There have been several historians recently who have been digging into the private lives of the Fathers of the American Constitution, and have presented the results of their research to the American public. Speaking generally, the effect has been much like that which a father and mother might contrive if on their daughter's twenty first birthday they gently confided the fact to her that through some oversight they had neglected to get married, and that each of them had another mate living. Incredibly has been followed by horror and horror by race and indignation that the beautiful illusions should be destroyed. Some Americans have steadfastly refused to believe what they have been told. Some have contended that it was propaganda, probably of British origin. Others have found some satisfaction in reflecting that, mediocrity though they are, they yet never committed some of the excesses attributed to men whom they had been taught to reverence.

A wiser view is expressed by Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, one of the kindest and most tolerant of American historians. He thinks it is a good thing for the American, or any other people, to learn that their ancestors were not precisely steel engravings, that they were human beings like the rest of us, subject to the same weaknesses and temptations, but that what made them illustrious was their ability to resist, and if they fell to rise again, and despite many shortcomings accomplish something great and permanent in human history. It is not necessary, it is not indeed wise, for Americans to suppose that the men who were responsible for the independence of the American colonies were unanimously heroes. Some of them entered the campaign for independence from the basest motives. Some of the greatest of them, like Patrick Henry and Samuel Adams, related the Federal Constitution as long as they could. When the movement for independence began, the Tories were quite as good citizens as the republicans.

In the War of Independence many prominent Americans were lukewarm, and at heart were rather hopeful that the revolution should become a rebellion. When they saw on whose banners victory was likely to perch, they rallied to the banner and so won much temporary benefit and post mortem fame. They played politics then as do so many of their descendants play politics today, and perhaps nothing would astonish them more than the knowledge that the ward heeler and bosses of a hundred and fifty years ago have, in the course of time, been unburied as holy statesmen and patriots. Nevertheless, Prof. Hart says that the view sometimes put forward that the American Constitution was made by a body of landowners, manufacturers, merchants, bond holders, ship builders, slave owning planters and so forth, who fixed the text so that they might be able to collect their bonds in full, falls to pieces of its own weight.

A COMPLETE LIBRARY FOR $2.00

The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal has for over half a century devoted itself chiefly to the interests of the Dominion's rural and farming population. It gives more space to agricultural matters than does any other Canadian farm journal. In addition it furnishes most carefully selected stories for general reading, includes a regular magazine for young people, several pages devoted to women's interests, furnishes a trained qualified doctor, lawyers for each of the Provinces, veterinary surgeons for each division of live-stock, analysts for mineral specimens, entomologists for insect pests and their friends, naturalists for bird and animal study, photographic specialist for camera work, a wireless engineer for radio experiments, in fact experts in every line of interest to country dwellers. If there is anywhere in this world a journal which tries so successfully to cover the whole range of a Canadian family's needs, it has not made itself known as yet. No home can afford to be without this independent, valuable, encyclopedic journal. The subscription price of the Family Herald and Weekly Star is only $2.00 per year.

A LITTLE BIT OF LOVE

Do you know the world is sighing,
That many a heart is crying,
And even we babes are dying,
All for a little bit of love?
Do you know many are drifting
For want of a hand up-lifting,
Carelessly, heedlessly drifting?
Oh for a little bit of love!
Do you know, he who is striving,
On just and good to be striving,
On the downward path is driving?
Is there a little bit of love?
Do you know your coins that glitter
By the crowd all day flitting,
Then, when the cold world doth titter,
You'll need a little bit of love.
Do you know the world when ended,
Shall have all its cruel wings mended.
And the only things transcended
Shall be those little bits of love?
So give the lonely and erring,
Where'er they chance to be faring,
Some token of love unparing;
Then the world shall ring with His love.
—A. E. Irwin.

THE HARP'S SONG

A hunter's moon creeps o'er the hills;
The leaves are touched with autumn's chill;
The laden winds' kind calling thrills,
And heart-fires know a happy band.
The tern wing-cling, all desolate,
About the dreaming garden wall;
And tender ferns beside the gate,
Await the cheery cricket's call.
The while I wait by Autumn ways,
Forgetting all the reddened trees,
I hear a harp that softly plays
Ethereal music to the breeze.
The song from me stirs, not departs;
It burns with fever ever new;
Let not the hardness of a heart,
Mar the humanity in you.
—Allan Ward.

To Parents

DEAR SIR, OR MADAM—
I want you to know that I am interested in showing pictures on the screen of the Empress Theatre that are beneficial as well as entertaining to the youngsters of this community.

As you well know, children are particularly interested in screen serials, because of the average child's love of thrills and suspense. Many serials, however, place a great emphasis on gun-play, fighting and torture in order to work up the thrills the child-mind demands. As a result of this tendency there has been considerable criticism leveled against serials. The Universal Film Manufacturing Company has inaugurated a new serial policy with a view of getting away from the objectionable features in screen serials. That Company is making serials based on actual history or on standard childhood literature. One of the most effective of these serials is "THE ADVENTURES OF ROBINSON CRUSOE," adapted from Daniel Defoe's celebrated book.

In an effort to provide screen entertainment for the children of this community which cannot harm them, I have made arrangements to show the "ROBINSON CRUSOE" picture at the Empress Theatre, beginning—

Fri.-Sat., Dec. 8th-9th

I am anxious to know whether the parents of this community appreciate this step. If it meets with popular favor I will follow "ROBINSON CRUSOE" with other serials based on history, or on similar educational subjects. Come and see the first episode of "ROBINSON CRUSOE" for yourself, at the same time as your children see it—then let me know what you think of my plan. Believe me sincere in wishing to co-operate with parents and teachers in providing proper screen entertainment for the youngsters. Yours very truly,
F. J. CUTLER,
Manager Empress Theatre.

worth the cool drive.

of Bright municipality, returned from Edmonton where he has been with others, placing the needs of municipalities before the various departments of the provincial government.
Among other matters was the small tracts of land in irrigated districts purchased for the ditch, which do not come under tax as other lands. Many acres would in this way be exempt, but when the matter was brought to the attention of the minister, he promised to take it up and will no doubt bring legislation to have it so that the land will be subject to taxation.

Mrs. Crimmonbeak—"See how nice-can't man and wife trot along pleas-

Mr. Crimmonbeak—"Well, you see, there is only one tongue between those two horses."—Witness.

Never in the history of mankind has the unrest been so general as it is today and on every hand the ques-mean?"

The student of Gods word is reminded of the words of Jesus, "Upon the earth distress of nations with perplexity; the sea and the waves
(the restless, and discontented) roar-

LIFE WAS MISERY!

"I was reading the other day about Neurasthenia, about the large number of people who were troubled with this disease. It is just what my wife had. She felt miserable all the time and was constantly depressed. She would weep in the morning and tell me that something dreadful was going to happen that day. Life was nothing short of misery for her. She was so depressed that I expected she would lose her mind and have to go to a sanatorium and I kept wondering how I would get the money to pay for her. She could not eat and had no appetite for food. She was irritable and cranky most of the time. If she was crossed in any way, she would immediately work herself up into a violent temper. This worried me because she had always had a kind and gentle disposition and nothing which was said or done seemed to irritate her. I spoke to her calmly and tried to comfort her but she said that her trouble was imagination and that if she would try and forget about her depression and look on the bright side of life she would be all right. Of course I didn't dare tell her this because I knew she would get into one of her tempers. When she got over these fits of temper, she was always weak and ill and more depressed than ever. The doctor said a tonic might help her and gave me a prescription but this did not do her any good. She tried all the other tonics with the same result. Carol was recommended to me and I at once stated that it is the leader of all tonics. Since taking it my wife has changed completely. Now she is always ready for her meals and work is no burden. It is a pleasure for me to recommend Carol to anyone who is in need of a tonic or a body builder. Excuse me for writing this letter but I want you to accept my thanks for that wonderful tonic known as Carol!" — Mr. A. W. Toronto.

Carol is sold by your druggist, and if you can convince him of its value after you have tried it, that it hasn't done any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 7-622

FIFTY YEARS AGO ON THE AMERICAN TURF

At the instance of the New York Jockey Club, Mr. W. S. Vosburgh has written an outline of horse racing in the United States in the past fifty years. For more than half that period Mr. Vosburgh has served as a racing official and has first hand knowledge of practically all the horses he writes about. No one in America is better qualified for the task than Mr. Vosburgh, for he has been a lover of horses all his life and has been an accomplished winner of a pen. He is no mere dispassionate chronicler of events, either, but does not hesitate to express his own views or even his own prejudices when discussing individual horses. For instance, he is not quite so enthusiastic about Man o' War as most present-day writers. The Riddle horse was undoubtedly a great one, but he was given his present position as a record money earner through the kindness of our fellow citizen, Mr. Abe Orpen, who offered a $75,000 purse for the race between Man o' War and Sir Barton. The latter horse was not fit to race the day he did, and perhaps there were a dozen other colts that could have beaten him besides Man o' War.

Synsby's was probably of opinion that the greatest race horse in the past century was Schamshir, owned by the late James R. Keene, sired in England, but born in the United States. Synsby, like Man o' War, lost one race, and that as a two-year-old, but Artful who beat him then could never be induced to start against him again. It was said of Synsby by experts at the time, that at any distance from a hundred yards to a hundred miles. When he died suddenly, it was related that his stern owner shed tears. Synsby's skeleton stands in the American Museum of Natural History. Mr. Vosburgh does not think so highly of him, another of Mr. Keene's champions, though he had a remarkable record and it is of opinion that a stable companion was a better animal.

Turf Romances.

The book is full of stories of the romance of the turf. It tells once more the remarkable story of Morvich, the despised little selling plater that came out of the west in the Spring of 1921, and won a fortune for a novice who had never owned a race horse before, ending his two-year-old career as the unbeaten hero of a decade. He was hailed by some enthusiasts as a greater horse than Man o' War. This year, however, he was a bitter disappointment. In 1921 thirteen victories to one defeat. This year he had one victory and thirteen defeats. Some twenty-five years ago Mogzlo was the hero of the turf. He was bought for $100, won fourteen out of seventeen races his first year and earned $50,000. Then there was Yorkville who, for $12,000, won a winner of $70,000 in two years and sold for $24,000 at auction. Another famous harguin was Hamburg, bought for $12,000, a winner of $40,000 as a two-year-old, and sold for $10,000.

other $40,000. He subsequently proved one of the best sires in the United States.

An Ugly Duckling

Another ugly duckling that turned out a swan indeed was John. As a colt it was said that he was clumsy and loose jointed and could neither gallop, cantor or walk. He was named in derision after a German schoolboy on Long Island, who was noted for his curious appearance. John's trainer, one of the most astute in the business, said that the colt was not worth training, but he had the most important thing a race horse could have—speed. He almost forced the trainer to work on him. Then it seemed as though the original opinion about him was correct, for John lost nine races. Suddenly he struck his stride and in one season captured the Suburban, the Belmont, the Latonia Derby, the Huron Handicap, the Saratoga Cup and the Realization. These, of course, are the high spots of racing and for every Morvich of 1921, there are three Morviches of 1922. For a horse that cost a hundred dollars and won $50,000 in purses, there are half a dozen horses that cost $2,000 and never win a race.

The Brooklyn Butchers.

Two of the great horses of the early period covered by Mr. Vosburgh were Virgil and Eolo, both discovered while hauling buggies and both destined to establish mighty lines of racers. In 1862, two of the greatest sons, Hindoo and Eolo, fought a historic duel for the Brighton Cup at two and a quarter miles. It was Hindoo's last race and he won. After the race the owner of the beaten horse said to the Dwyer brothers, owners of Hindoo:

"Come over to the Union Club, and I will match Eolo against Hindoo for $5,000 a side to run the race over." To this the democratic Dwyers replied:

"Come over to our butcher shop. We will match Hindoo against Eolo for $10,000 a side to run the race over."

Hindoo was never the same horse again, and such was the influence of those Brooklyn butchers on the turf generation ago that when they announced they would never again run a horse over a Cup distance, the once indelible in an orgy and there was not a single arrest made by the police for liquor.

NEW ORLEANS IS WET PROHIBITION DEFIED

As regards the liquor question, the most immediate result of the voting in the United States a week ago will be a slackening of enforcement. Cities that showed hostility to Volsteadism will become damper than they have been, for it is only the old American official, who is said to strongly enforce an act which he knows is opposed by perhaps three people out of four in the community in which he operates. A Toronto citizen who returned from New York on Sunday reported that in a New York hotel where he asked for a glass of good beer and was served with a glass of as good beer as ever he drank, even though he was not known. Moreover the beer came out of a beer tap and not out of a bottle. With the Governor of the state against prohibition, with the new Senator elected on a wet ticket, and with the city administration, including the police, all committed to wet views and opinion, it is not to be wondered at if New York becomes moister in every way, day by day, moister and moister.

Louisiana Unreconciled

One American city that has remained wet despite Volstead and the Eighteenth Amendment is New Orleans. According to a number of the staff of The New York Times who returned from that city recently, New Orleans appears to be the gayest, healthiest, busiest place in the United States. Louisiana never reconciled itself to prohibition. It did not ratify the Eighteenth amendment and the City of New Orleans did not vote dry. People there take the view that the Eighteenth Amendment was an outrage and that the Federal Government had no right to say what New Orleans should drink. The city, declare the citizens, never attempted to interfere in the affairs of New Orleans or Philadelphia nor did Louisiana meddle in the business of Ohio or Maine. Therefore, the residents of Louisiana ask, why should they be left alone? Of course this reasoning is altogether puerile, as any prohibitionist can point out, but it seems to be the prevailing opinion in New Orleans, and in that city the opinion that is prevailing really prevails.

Few Bootleggers

In New Orleans, says The Times man, there are fewer bootleggers than in any other city of similar size in the United States. The reason is plain. A man would be a fool to buy bootleg stuff when in a hundred reputable—New Orleans insists upon calling them—hotels and restaurants the thirty may be ministered to. Scotch is said to cost a quarter and Canadian only less than that. These whiskey are of established brands. Some of the famous efforts do not sell their own brandy and gin flizzes quite as openly as they did once. We learn that the New Orleans Legion held its session in New Orleans. It was astonished to find the procuring of alcoholic drinks so easy. Nevertheless, though the soldiers had a hilarious time they apparently did not indulge in an orgy and there was not a single arrest made by the police for liquor.

The City's Pride

One reason why New Orleans is wet is that the city has been a sort of playground famous to most Americans because of Mardi Gras, despite the fact that it is a great resort. Visitors who go to New Orleans have money to spend and the town has long enjoyed the reputation of being "wide open." Moreover the inhabitants come of a non-temperal stock. The real aristocrats of New Orleans have descended from the French families. The city has not driven residents from other parts of the United States to the extent that Western and Middle Western cities have. Of course, this is not exactly equivalent to saying that there was no drunkenness.

The December issue of Rod and Gun in Canada is one which may truly be said to combine quality with quantity and the many readers of this national sportsman's journal will no doubt take a lot of keen delight out of this number, the concluding issue for 1922. There are several splendid articles and a number of particularly good stories, among them the humorous, yarn, "They Went Fishing." The Guns and Ammunition department contains highly valuable articles by J. R. Macdonald and E. W. Francis. A. W. Wilson excels in "Blanketing," while the Trap Line and Kennel Departments have a lot of good things for everybody. Many other items of outstanding feature the December issue. Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly at Woodstock, Ontario, by W. J. Taylor, Limited.

FREE DISTRIBUTION OF GRAIN

A free distribution of superior sorts of grain will be made during the coming winter to Canadian farmers by the Cereal Division of the Experimental Farms Branch, Ottawa. The samples will consist of spring wheat (about 5 lbs.), white oats (about 4 lbs.), barley (about 5 lbs.), field peas (not garden peas—about 5 lbs.), field beans (about 2 lbs.), flax for seed and flax for fibre (about 2 lbs.).

The Cereal Division of the Experimental Farms Branch has improved many of the old varieties of grain and introduced many new varieties. The best of them have been multiplied and propagated under direct supervision of responsible officers on the Experimental Farms both east and west. This seed will form the bulk of the stock from which the various samples will be taken. The seed is therefore the purest and best that is obtainable. Of some of the more recent introductions, there is only a limited supply, so it would be advisable to apply as soon as possible for these.

Among the grains for distribution will be found the Liberty human oat, an oat that is excellent for human use, and a limited stock of young live stock. Among the wheats, the most outstanding for distribution will be the Ruby wheat, a wheat that ripens from eight to ten days earlier than Marquis and is suitable for districts where Marquis is not early enough. This year among the barleys will be found Charlottetown No. 80. This is a two rowed barley that has a tendency to dry its awns. The supply of this variety is very limited. We hope also to distribute Himalayan barley, a hullless variety which is a good yielder and suitable for young livestock. There will be only one variety of peas for distribution, namely Mackay Ottawa 25 which is a main crop pea and not suited to districts where early frosts occur.

The object of the distribution is twofold, first, that the farmer may get a small sample of good seed to start his seed plot second, that the Cereal Division may find out how their improved grains will behave under various conditions of soil and climate. Therefore, it is necessary that the information asked for on the application form should be fully answered. This also holds true with the report forms which each man is asked to fill out after he has grown the sample.

Application must be made on a printed form which will be supplied by the Cereal Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. (No postage is required on letters so addressed.) No application forms will be supplied after February 15th, 1923. Farmers are advised to send at once for forms in order not to be disappointed, as in some cases the stock is limited. The allotment of samples will be made in order of application. Only one sample will be sent to a farm.

J. W. McDonald, K. C., has turned in his resignation as Crown Prosecutor for the Macleod Judicial District to the Department of the Attorney-General.
When interviewed he declined to particularize his reasons for doing so, but says that he may do so later on. Mr.
McDonald was appointed a King's Counsel (K. C.), in the early part of 1919, and in the fall of the same year was made Crown Prosecutor for the District, which position he has now resigned. The resignation leaves Mr.
McDonald open to accept defence retainers as he has completely severed his connection as Crown Prosecutor with the Attorney-General's department.

RE WATERBORN LAKE.

A resolution favoring the Dominion government securing the support of the U. S. government in damming the waters of Waterborn Lake at the narrows for irrigation purposes in Southern Alberta was submitted by the Right Mile local.

It's as well to have a song in your heart, especially if you haven't the right kind of a voice.

DRY GOODS, BOOTS & SHOES, CLOTHING, ETC.
GROCERIES

Coming events cast their shadows before us

This trite saying was amply verified the other day. In paying a visit to the Grocery Department the manager was unpacking some Xmas candies, comprising Fancy Boxes of Chocolates, Xmas Stockings with a miscellaneous assortment of youngsters and adults delights. But what! and among the tempting feast was an heterogeneous and promiscuous display of vegetables, carrots, radishes, turnips, onions, potatoes, bean and pea pods. The most realistic showing of natural vegetables shown, but each was wrapped in tissue paper, yet they were all candies. The Xmas Fruit looked nice and fresh—seeded raisins with the bloom on, currants pineapple and cherries, Sultanas, crystallized pineapple, peels and ginger root, crystal cherries of all kinds, red, white and black, almond paste, dates, apple cider for mince meat and crackers.
